XXXVIIth Congress—First Session

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Senate.—The correspondence between the Secretary of State and ex-President Pierce is now in the Senate except one letter.

On motion of Mr. Trumbull, the House resolution to co-operate with the slave States in emancipation was taken.

Mr. Sherman spoke in favor of the abolition of slavery in the District, and of the resolution before the Senate.

The resolution was adopted, 32 against 10, as follows.

Yeas—Anthony, Browning, Chandler, Clark, Collamer, Davis, Dixon, Doollittle, Fessenden, Foote, Foster, Hale, Harlan, Henderson, Howard, Howe, King, Lane, Co. Ind., Lane, of Kansas, Morrill, Pomeroy, Sherman, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Thompson, Trumbull, Wade, Wilkinson, Willey, Wilson, Mass., 32.

The bill for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia was then taken up.

Messrs. Davis and McDougall spoke against the bill, after which the Senate adjourned.

House—Mr. Diven introduced a bill which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, authorizing the sale of annuities by life insurance companies, and fixing the value thereof.

The House then took up the Senate recontion providing that whenever military operations require the presence of one or two officers of the same grade in the same field or department, the President may make such assignment without regard to seniority of rank.

Mr. Stevens moved to lay it on the table. Disagreed to—yeas, 81; nays, 210.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the tax bill, Mr. Colfax in the chair.

At the request of Mr. Stevens, the committee passed over the sections concerning the income tax and in order to allow for

The second clause of schedule B, was amended so as to read promissory notes, bank checks, drafts or orders for the use of ment of any sum drawn upon any bank or trust company, or any firm or person or company or corporations at sight or on demand, except checks. Drafts or orders under fifty dollars shall pay two cents duty. The clause in regard to express was substituted by the following substitute:

For every receipt issued by any express company or courier for a single box, bale, package or bundle, two cents duty, and for any number more than one, five cents. The clause as to the entry of goods-wares or merchandise at customs was also substituted by the following:

The Committee then rose, and the House adjourned.

remark that they have devoted the principal part of their report to the exposure of the abuses which characterized the late administration of that department, and testify to the integrity which generally has been displayed by merchants, mechanics, and manufacturers, when permitted to deal directly with the Government. Widespread as have been the demonstrations in official circles, and among their dependents and favorites, and startling as have been the frauds which have been attempted and consummated, a large majority of the claimants have presented

The following dispatch dated Woodstock, Va., 2d, was received here to-day.

We have driven the enemy to-day from Strasburg to Woodstock, 12 miles, and thence to Edinburg, 12 miles further. He contested the march most of the way. The enemy contested sharply a strong position at Edinburg. We lost but one killed and one wounded. The rebel Colonel Ashby received a shot through his cap. Our men behaved admirably during yesterday's

The Richmond Enquirer of the 27th states our loss at Winchester at 1,200 to 1,500 and theirs about 400. The 2d Virginia lost about 100 men. Among the casualties were Col. Moore, of Winchester, T. P. Tower, of the General Assembly, and Colonel Cholmondeley of the 27th Virginia Regiment.

the citizens of St. Louis, 2,300 in number, elegantly bound in Morocco, was presented to General Scott by Erastus Brooks. He received it with many thanks.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Letters received from near Corinth say: Our troops that vicinity are in a healthful condition and eager for battle. A good report of them is confidently expected.

Southern News.
UNIONISTS CAPTURED.
A late Richmond Examiner contains the following telegram:
CHARLESTON, S. C., March 17, 1862.
Lieutenant Colonel Bennett, of the 51st Pennsylvania regiment, Lieutenant Riley, of the 47th New York, and S. H. Wells, Union overboard agent and cotton broker, were Further details of the battle of Newbern have been received. The reports vary materially as to the particulars of the affair. Apparently those most reliable assert that the forces engaged consisted of five skeleton regiments of infantry, a few companies

The enemy was 22,000 strong, provided with formidable gunboats on the flank, and formidable field batteries on the front, with heavy reserves. Our entire force probably overestimated at 6,000; yet they held their ground in the face of the great odds for full five hours. The militia gave way first, and retreated. Our loss in killed and wounded was 1,000 men.

The Union loss is variously estimated at from five hundred to one thousand. The only troops engaged on our side were north Carolinians. Colonel Avery and Major Coke were both killed. Colonel Hayard was not killed, as first reported.

LOYAL AND DISLOYAL CITIZENS.

We learn that nine of the men employed the city gas works utterly refused to take the oath of allegiance, saying that they had orn to support the Constitution of the United States, and would not perjure themselves. Richmond will, no doubt, be made so hot to hold these Yankee sympathizers they had not been rejected up to a late hour at evening.

NEW MADRID.—It is said that New Madrid exhibits no traces of the desolation of war than any town which has been taken by the Union forces during the whole Western campaign. The houses and streets are, normally,

A few citizens remaining at home are pitiless, and are continually branding over the inconveniences and losses to which they have been unavoidably subjected, and the entire village wears an air of despondency, as if it dared not indulge the hope that it would ever again hold up its head and claim its old position as a thriving river town. One old gentleman, a citizen who was any number of thousands of acres of farming land, and who recently was man-of three hundred negroes, told General Pope a few days since that he was now seventy years old, and on that morning for the first time in his life, he had to make his own fire, there not being a servant left in his place large enough to handle one. The old man did not relish the idea of being compelled to learn how to take care of himself, and cherished the hope, that some of his "boys" would get hungry and return to him, in which case he would willingly forgive them. The rebels had taken from in sixteen thousand bushels of corn in mots, with which they had completed a first astily built, and had otherwise helped themselves freely to whatever of his property they fancied, so that he naturally feels that he has been slightly misused, and believes every man his enemy.—Cor. Chigo Times.

62. Business was rather dull on the river. The Messrs. Anderson, Cincinnati; Dove, Kentucky river; and Gray Eagle, Henderson, were the only packets in port, bringing in tolerable trips of produce and carrying out cargoes of assorted goods. The Diligent came down with a load of lay, but was wind-bound in the bend above the city. The Charles Miller left for Aurora for a tow of hay-barges. The Tycoon, from St. Louis to Cincinnati, left a small quantity of lead at this port. The

to be in the canal by the middle of the night last night and warm, with high winds and blinding showers of sleet. A light shower in the morning.

On Tuesday was rather cold on the levee. The Mississippi river, which flows down the levee, was very high. Captain Kane, the engineer, says that it is not very frequent to bring in tolerable crops of produce and carrying out cargoes of assorted goods. The Diligent came in with a load of hay, but was wind-bound in the lead for several days. The city is now getting a few barrels of hay-larks. The Tycoon, from St. Louis, is now in port.

The principal, late a small quantity of Tycoon from the Louisiana from Nashville to Cincinnati, the Ben Franklin, from Big Spring, the John Hama and Atlanta, from New Orleans, and the Ben Franklin, from Nashville, were the transient arrivals and departures.

FOR CINCINNATI.—The Superior is the mailboat at noon day.

FOR THE CINCINNATI GAZETTE, of yesterday, says: "The weather continues warm and pleasant. The river has fallen one foot nine inches during the past twenty-four hours, leaving twenty three and ten inches water in the channel."

The arrivals yesterday were the C-icket No. 2, from New Orleans, the Ben Franklin, from Nashville, and the Ben Franklin, from New Orleans. The Tycoon, from Pittsburgh, Tennessee, and the Ben Franklin, from Nashville.
